

DR. ALDO MOMBELLO CURRICULUM

Born in Verona august 23th 1961.

MD degree in 1988.

1992 diploma in Pathology (specialization)

1993 staff pathologists full time in the Hospital Unit of Pathology of OCM of Verona (ULSS25 now AOUI of Verona).

From November 1994 Assistant Pathologist at the Institute of Pathology at the University of Verona (now Department of Diagnostic and Public Health, sect. of Pathology) with both clinical and academic functions.

Dr. Mombello performed numerous didactic functions in MD degree course, in laboratory technicians degree course, in Specialty School of Pathology and also in Specialty other schools.

Currently he carries out activity in MD degree course and in Pathology School (also evaluation examinations).

From 2016 Dr.Mombello is responsible of all the autoptic diagnostics (morbid pathology) of UOC of Pathology (in the two hospital centers of AOUI of Verona OCM Hospital and Policlinic Hospital) with particular scientific interest in cases of cardiopathology, neonatal pathology and neuropathology (prion encephalopathy). With case reports publication of relevant cases.

He contributes also in molecular and cellular biology studies regarding the functional role of CFTR in cystic fibrosis and other related disease. Another area of interest is the role of the tumor suppressor PTPRG gene.

The scientific production of Dr.Mombello is about of 50 pubblications and of many abstracts of conference reports in national and international meetings.